Landscape Design FAQ's

What sort of questions can your retail staff answer?

Our knowledgeable team members can tell you what, where and when to plant, how to care for indoor and outdoor plants, how to grow great tomatoes and so much more! Just ask!

How long will my landscape project take?

It depends on the size of your project and if weather becomes a factor. An average size residential job normally takes between 2-6 weeks to complete.

How much is it going to cost?

That depends on your budget and what you'd like to have done. Please contact us to receive an estimate.

I'd like to do some of the work myself but I'll need help with some of the project, can we work together?

Of course! We will work with you to determine what you'd like to handle yourself and what aspects might be better left to the professionals.

I started a project that I can't seem to finish. Can you finish it for me?

Yes we can. It's not an unusual problem so just give us a call to set up an appointment.

Can the Yard & Garden Coach teach me how to start a garden?

Yes, we'd love to! Just call to set up an appointment.

If I purchase a landscape plan from you but then decide to have you do the work for me will I receive a credit for what I paid for the plan?

Yes, however certain restrictions apply. Please discuss your situation with a designer.

Do I need an appointment for a free in store consultation?

No, an appointment is not required however they are recommended.

Do you charge for estimates?

Estimates are always free! If you require a detailed site plan charges may apply.

How much does the plan cost?

The price for your plan will be determined by the lot size and which features are included. On average, a front or back yard plan costs $200-$300 and a front and back yard plan costs around $500. An elaborate landscape design with a water feature, patio, retaining wall or pergola may cost more. Your designer will discuss these charges with you in detail before your plan is drawn.

Do you charge for initial consultation & design?

We do not charge for initial consultations however we ask that if you are planning on a DIY project that you take advantage of our free DIY in store consultation sessions. There is a charge if you require a detailed site plan, see above.

Can someone come out and teach me how to install edging, plant the plants and answer my questions?

Yes! A Yard & Garden Coach can assist with this, or our retail staff can provide excellent advice and instruction in many areas.

How does the Landscape Design process work and how do I get started?

The first step is to set an appointment. A designer will come to your home to discuss ideas and take measurements. An estimate will be drawn up and presented to you. Changes and adjustments will be made and when you are satisfied with your design a deposit will be taken, your project will be scheduled and work will begin!
